BLOOMFIELD, N. J. FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1880.

NO. 365.

Under this heading, the Newark Adcle showing that the influential Republicans of this State are divided Between Grant and Blaine, as preferred nominees of the next National Republican Convention. An interesting fact brought out is that among the bank-presidents, for a "strong government." Unquestionably, General Grant is the choice of the National bank interest. Few of the Republican leaders or newspapers have as yet declared openly for him, and why they are for him, but the why and wherefore is unmatakably manifest in some quarters. Senator Sharon, of No
